QUESTION 3

(10 minutes)

Answer QUESTION 3.1 OR QUESTION 3.2.

3.1 Study the extract below and answer the questions.

The musical score is in D major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. It consists of two systems of two staves each. The first system contains measures 1-4, and the second system contains measures 5-8. Various parts of the score are bracketed and labeled (a) through (j). Roman numeral chord figures are provided for measures (a) through (j). Non-chordal notes are labeled (i) through (iv).

3.1.1 Figure the chords at (a) to (h) on the score using Roman numerals, e.g. E: vii^{o6}/vii^{ob}.

Answer: See score

1 mark per chord = 8 marks Minus ½ mark if inversion is incorrect
--

(8)

3.1.2 Name the final cadence and figure the last chord at (j) on the score.

Answer: Interrupted cadence
See score

= 1 mark
= 1 mark

3.1.3 Name the types of non-chordal notes at (i) to (iv).

Antwoord: (i) Suspension
(ii) Passing note
(iii) Anticipation
(iv) (Upper) Auxiliary note

= 1 punt
= 1 punt
= 1 punt
= 1 punt

(4)

3.1.4 Explain the G[#] in bar 3.

Answer:

- Chromatic note in D major
- Leading note of A major
- Leading note of the dominant/relative key
- Chromatic passing note
- Part of secondary dominant (Vb/V)

Any ONE = 1 mark

(1)

OR

3.2 Study the extract below and answer the questions.

3.2.1 Identify the chords (a) to (h) and write chord symbols in the spaces above the chords, e.g. B^b/D.

Answer: See score

1 mark per chord = 8 marks
Minus ½ mark if inversion is incorrect

(8)

3.2.2 Name the cadence which is formed at (Z) and write the chord symbol at (j) on the score.

Answer: Plagal cadence
See score

= 1 mark
= 1 mark

3.2.3 Name the types of non-chordal notes at (i) to (iv).

Answer: (i) (Lower) Auxiliary note
(ii) Anticipation
(iii) Passing note
(iv) Suspension

= 1 punt
= 1 punt
= 1 punt
= 1 punt

(4)

3.2.4 Comment on the tenor part in bar 8 at (X).

Answer:

- Chromatic passage
- Contains syncopation
- Quavers create a forward drive

Any ONE = 1 mark

QUESTION 4

(30 minutes)

Answer EITHER QUESTION 4.1 OR QUESTION 4.2.

4.1 4.1.1 Complete the following harmonic progression in four parts by inserting a passing second inversion pattern.

1 mark per chord = 3 marks
Minus ½ mark per error up to a maximum of 1 mark per chord

(3)

4.1.2 Complete the four-part vocal harmonisation below by adding the alto, tenor and bass parts.

Concept answer:

Correctness:
Korrektheid:

QUESTION 10Answer:*Example of an introduction

Maskanda is a subgenre of Zulu folk music often accompanied on acoustic guitars using specific techniques and percussive performance sound.

Development of maskanda as a male performance style

- Traditional African masculinity required men to work in order to support their families while women stayed home to take care of the children
- Apartheid forced men to leave their home and find work in the cities
- In the cities they lived in male-only mining compounds
- They started to make music that reminded them of home using instruments (guitar) which they obtained cheaply in the cities
- Western instruments provided new opportunities for musicians
- The opportunity to record the music and make some money reinforced the system of the man being the provider

FOUR correct facts

The influence of umakhweyane/ugubhu (gourd-bow) music

- The form and structure of maskanda are derived from umakhweyane performance practice
- The inclusion of izibongo comes from umakhweyane
- Tonality is structured around contrasting triads either a semitone or a tone apart as used in umakhweyane
- Specific tuning of maskanda guitar is influenced by the melodic overtones created on the umakhweyane
- The use of the pentatonic scale by umakhweyane forms the basis of maskanda improvisation
- The percussive playing style is reminiscent of umakhweyana music
- The guitar in maskanda serves as self-accompaniment to singing just as in umakhweyana

QUESTION 15Answer:*Example of an introduction

Marabi is a piano-based, ragtime-influenced type of dance music with a repeated harmonic progression

Origins of instruments

- Solo 'piano-men' emerged with the rise of American ragtime, Dixieland and jazz in the 1900s
- Owners of entertainment venues bought their own pianos/organs to compete for the services of popular pianists and organists in order to attract patrons
- Influence of brass and fife-and-drum bands of British forces during the Anglo-Boer war (1899–1902)

TWO correct facts

Instrumentation

- Urban Bapedi used brass instruments to play Western tunes
- Small ensembles consisting of piano, brass, woodwind, violin, banjo, and drums emerged in the 1920s and 1930s
- The Flying Jazz Queens: voices, rhythm guitar, lead guitar, saxophone and drum kit
- The Manhattan Brothers: voices, piano, guitar and clarinet and drum kit
- Indunduma (marabi piano vamp style) is incorporated into many traditional songs by instrumentalists (guitarists and violinists)

THREE correct facts

Style characteristics

- Keyboard style (sometimes cheap pedal organs) linked to American jazz, ragtime and blues, with roots in African tradition
- The sound of marabi was intended to draw people's attention and get them dancing
- Typical cyclic four-bar progressions were I-IV-I⁶₄-V or I-IV-V-I(V) or I-ii⁶-V-I(V)
- The cyclic progressions repeated in varying vamping patterns allowed people to easily pick up the feel and rhythm of the song
- It allowed people to dance for a long time without having to know the song
- The lilting melodies and catchy rhythms found their way into the sounds of popular dance bands
- Melodies were influenced by indigenous African hymns, popular songs and African-American music
- Focus was on repeated melody and not improvisation
- Rhythms were based on standard patterns reflecting a basic drum pattern commonly found in Nguni music
- Stylistic exchange between rural neo-traditional African music and marabi took place to create new rhythms and inventive, comical footwork
 - Rural dances: amaXhosa mabokwe
 - Neo-traditional forms: amaZulu guitar songs of roving abaqhafi 'street cowboys'
 - Emerging urban styles: amaXhosa itswari
 - AmaXhosa thula ndivile: three-chord harmonic format that serves to signal other players in the band to tone down for new material to be introduced

QUESTION 20

Answer:

Example of an introduction

Beethoven's new and original ideas developed and enhanced the symphonic model of the Classical era.

Structure and form

- The programmatic idea influences the resulting overall structure
- All the movements are given titles instead of mere tempo indications
- Consists of five movements instead of the usual three or four
- He added the fourth movement between the conventional third and fourth movements of a Classical symphony
- The third movement moves into the fourth movement, and the fourth movement moves into the fifth movement without interruption
- The uninterrupted flow of the last three movements creates a sense of unity and continuity creating one long movement (movements 3 to 5)
- The conventional form types within the symphonic work were changed to allow for more freedom of expression
- Fourth movement – free (episodic) form allowing freedom for the tone painting of a storm
- Fifth movement – the recurring rondo theme expresses the sentiments of the shepherds and the mood of thankfulness

SIX correct facts

Instrumentation/orchestration

- He added more instruments to the orchestra to enhance orchestral colour
- Added piccolo plays shrill high notes to create terror and tension
- Added two trombones to add strength and intensity to the climax of the storm
- The cello quintuplet figures and double bass quadruplets create a continuous rumbling in the storm
- The timpani tremolo represents the character of thunder
- The use of the flute playing softly and gently as a link to the fifth movement suggests a return to the pastoral setting after the storm
- Alpine horn call depicted by the call and echo of the clarinet and horn at the beginning of the fifth movement re-establishes the calm, pastoral mood

THREE correct facts Maximum of 2 marks for instrument additions
--

Dynamics

- His use of dynamics helps to portray the programmatic content
 - A wide dynamic range in his fourth movement from pp-raindrops to ff-thunder strokes
 - pp-tremolo on the timpani at the start of the fourth movement indicating the beginning of the storm
 - sf used at the climax of the storm
 - The fifth movement ends pianissimo followed by two thunderous fortissimo chords to end off the symphony

THREE correct facts

Example of a conclusion

Beethoven's innovations to the symphonic model continue to inspire composers of the symphony.
